THE PEOPLE ARE BEING TOLD THROUGH THE SOVIET PRESS AND RADIO
(NOVEMBER 3, 4 AND 5)

1. Summary - Domestic propaganda on the Cuban crisis appeared to be continuing on a somewhat reduced level over the weekend. When Soviet press attention was not focused on such other events as the Sino-Indian conflict, the accent was on the reasonableness of Castro's demands and the smoothness of Mikoyan's meeting with Castro in Havana. Mikoyan's stopover in New York on his way to Cuba was seen by the Moscow domestic radio as further proof of Soviet efforts to preserve peace, but last week's massive effort to portray the Soviet Union as the champion of peace has faded off somewhat. Jamming of VOA news on Cuba appeared to be very light on November 5 with nearly all items allowed through on most programs.

2. Pravda Gives Wide Coverage to Castro Speech - Pravda on November 4 devoted nearly a page to a summary of Castro's November 1 television speech concerning his talks with Mikoyan. It is believed that the summary is largely factual since the Soviet comment on the speech was reported by FBIS. The Soviet press also gave wide coverage to Castro's speech in the form of six to ten short summaries. Further details on the contents of the summaries will be given when available.

3. Soviet Public Told of President's Speech - On November 4, Moscow Radio and Press gave summaries of the President's speech, which were widely circulated, of the President's speech. The summaries contained, however, that the information concerning the dismantling of the missile bases was obtained through aerial photographs taken by aircraft flying over Cuba's coast. Emphasized was the President's statement that the United States is a reliable international organization to take over inspection of base-bound cargoes. (This is believed to be the first reference in Soviet domestic propaganda to a potential role for the Red Cross in Cuba.)

4. Moscow Radio Gives Brief Report of Castro Speech - Late on November 4 Radio Moscow stated that the Cuban-Cuban situation was being dealt with questions on the international situation were being handled in a "atmosphere of sincere friendship, complete trust, and mutual understanding." The statement made by Mikoyan at New York supporting Castro's peace demands was also given wide coverage.

WHAT THE PEOPLE ARE BEING TOLD THROUGH THE SOVIET PRESS AND RADIO (NOVEMBER 3, 4, AND 5)

1. Summary - Domestic propaganda on the Cuban crisis appeared to be continuing on a somewhat reduced level over the weekend. When Soviet press attention was not focused on such other events as the Sino-Indian conflict, the accent was on the reasonableness of Castro's demands and the warmth of Mikoyan's meeting with Castro in Havana. Mikoyan's stop-[illeg] in New York on his way to Cuba was seen by the Moscow domestic radio as further proof of Soviet efforts to preserve peace, but last week's massive effort to portray the Soviet Union as the champion of peace has fallen off somewhat. Jamming of VOA news on Cuba appeared to be very light on November 5 with nearly all items allowed through on most programs.

2. Pravda Gives Wide Coverage to Castro Speech - Pravda on November 4 devoted nearly a page to a summary of Castro's November 1 television speech concerning his talks with U Thant. It is believed that the summary is largely factual since no Soviet comment on the speech was reported by FBIS. The Soviet radio also gave wide coverage to Castro's speech in the form of six to ten minute summaries. Further details on the contents of the summaries will be given when available.

3. Soviet Public Told of President's November 2 Speech - On November 2 both Moscow Radio and Tass gave factual summaries, which were widely circulated, of the President's November 2 speech. The summaries remarked however, that the information concerning the dismantling of the missile bases was continuing through aerial photography taken by aircraft violated Cuba's air space. Emphasized was the President's statement that the Red Cross must be suitable international organization to take over inspectors of Cuba-bound cargoes. (This is believed to be the first reference in Soviet domestic propaganda to a potential role for the Red Cross in Cuba.)

4. Moscow Radio Gives Brief Report of Mikoyan-Castro Talks - Late on November 4 Radio Moscow stated that the Mikoyan-Cuban talks dealing with questions on the "international situation" were being carried out in a "atmosphere of sincere friendship, complete trust, and actual understanding." The statement made by Mikoyan at New York supporting Castro's five demands was also given coverage.

5. Pravda Article by Gomulka Refers to Cuba - Principal reported coverage of the Cuban situation in Pravda for November 5 was that contained in a long article by Wladyslaw Gomulka on the 45th anniversary of the October Revolution. Gomulka wrote that in "these days of tension" the world sees that "war is characteristic of the image of imperialism" but "the image of socialism is the image of peace."

6. Jamming - During nearly all VOA news programs beamed at the Soviet Union on November 5 jamming was lighter than it had been last week with such items as US insistence on on-the-site inspection allowed to go through. Considerably more sensitivity was shown toward VOA news concerning Sino-Indian clashes.
